

J U N E 2 0 1 2

CEF[®] IMPACT

Describe Good News Camp in Three Words

In the past few weeks, junior counselor training was held for more than 70 teens who plan to be junior counselors at Good News Camp this summer. To start these meetings, we asked them to write on a sign their memories about camp in three words.

Pictured below are some of their responses.

It is our hope that the campers and staff that come to camp this summer will leave with the same great memories that these junior counselors have had. Join us in praying that more great memories will be made. Pray especially that for many campers they can remember camp with these three words:

† † † † † †

I received Jesus!

† † † † † †

God continues to prepare the seven girls who will be serving God as summer missionaries this summer in our two counties. Although many of their clubs have been lined up, there are still some openings if you'd like to host a club in your church or neighborhood. These girls are all still seeking to raise financial support for their ministry. If you'd like to help any of them, please contact the CEF office for more details.

GOOD NEWS CAMP PRAISES

On May 9, a group of 30 students from Cumberland Valley Christian School came to camp and spent the entire day cleaning, re-arranging, building, doing heavy lifting, and getting things ready for camp both inside and outside.

Another group of men from Calvary Bible Church are working hard at building benches to replace the concrete blocks in the outdoor chapel. On June 9, more volunteers will be at camp for the final set-up before camp begins on June 18. We praise God for so many people who give their time and talents to do all that is needed to prepare the camp grounds.

Meanwhile, back at the office, the chapel programs are being written, the quiet time books are being prepared, verse visuals have been printed and laminated, and lessons are being distributed to all of the volunteer teachers.

God has provided 12 missionaries to challenge the children each of the 12 weeks of camp. He's also provided many of the needed teachers, bus drivers and nurses although more are still needed. A large quantity of supplies have been given and are now waiting on the shelves.

It seems that all that's left to do is look for that first bus full of campers and allow God to begin doing great things this summer.

Praise God!

The doors at nearly every public school in our two counties were open to pass out Good News Camp brochures. Pray that new campers will come this summer as a result.

The first new bench at the outdoor chapel. Nearly 30 more will be completed before camp begins.

WHAT'S NEW?

CEF of Franklin/Fulton Counties now had a website! Go to www.franklincef.com

to check it out. You can get information about our ministries, schedules for camp and trainings, and even download games and handouts from Teacher Training Class. You can also get additional or past copies of our monthly Impact, prayer calendar, or the Russell family prayer letter. This is a new undertaking for us so we'd love for you to check it out and give us some feedback.