

Good News

Ready... Set... Go!

This is the month when all the plans come together for the start of Good News Camp 2012. Right now as the chairs sit empty in the chapel, it's easy to stand at the front and imagine all of the faces that will fill those chairs over the summer. We can picture the campers standing to say a Bible verse, jumping up and down to the motions of a song, and running through on their way to change for swimming. The empty tables at the back of the room will soon be filled with teachers gathering to pray for the campers and helpers doing their many daily tasks. Soon we'll hear the laughter of children on the swings, the clang of box hockey sticks, and the sound of the sno cone machine grinding the ice for everyone's favorite part of the day. There's nothing like the sights and sounds of camp!

It's not too late for you to join us to see your favorite sights and hear your favorite sounds. We still need help in all areas of camp: teachers, junior counselors, helpers, nurses, bus drivers, life guards, and photographers. God is going to do great things once again this summer and we don't want you to miss out on the blessing. As the day gets closer, our excitement builds and we have to remind ourselves that this amazing thing we get to do all summer long is actually our job. How blessed we are!

Cora

Summer Job

Cora plans to work all eight weeks at Good News Camp in Waynesboro this summer. She's so excited about that. She'll be in charge of crafts each afternoon and will help to oversee the new helpers who need to learn the ropes. We're really happy to have her consistent help and to have her serving God this summer.

Caleb

Happy Birthday!

Caleb, our last birthday of the year, just turned 14. At just over 6 feet, he's the tallest in our family now. He's been having a lot of trouble with ingrown toenails, but we're hoping a procedure with a specialist will take care of that problem once and for all. He'll be our babysitter again this summer.

Jacob

Jacob had a part in two musical events at his school during the last few weeks. He played the role of "Ben" in a school musical. The following week he had a piano recital and played "In the Jungle." This is his fourth year of taking piano lessons and he's doing really well with them. We're glad he enjoys it.

Olivia

Olivia planted a small garden in our yard and has been having a lot of fun weeding and harvesting. So far, she's harvested a great lettuce crop and a few strawberries. She's also planted peas, onions, broccoli, and blueberries. She's looking forward to going to camp with her friends.

Prayer Requests

- ✓ Praise God for a wonderful end to our School Good News Clubs. We also had a productive meeting with our teachers as we look ahead to fall improvements.
- ✓ Pray daily for Dan, Michelle, and Cora as we have to be at camp everyday from June 18 - August 10. Pray especially for good health, wisdom, safety and stamina.
- ✓ Praise for a great school year for our children.
