

Good News - February 2019

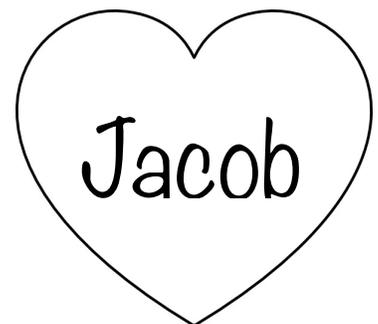

There is always so much to do to keep the ministry running smoothly, but our favorite part of every week is being at clubs. Watching the children memorize the songs and Bible verses, remember the lessons, and grow in their faith is like getting extra paychecks each week. We're so thankful that we can have this hands-on involvement with the children and volunteers.

Ministry continues in Thailand. This past month they celebrated Teacher's Day where the students honored the teachers by bringing them live plants and flowers. We were able to watch some of the ceremony online and it was touching to see how the children showed such respect to their teachers.

Caleb started his new semester at The College at Southeastern in Wake Forest, NC. He's taking five classes this semester - Rhetoric, History of Ideas 2, Latin 2, Literary Theory, and Literature in Missions. He is happy to be deep into his English major this semester after spending two years on general education classes.

Jacob and Olivia both participated in the National History Day competition again this year. They had a choice of methods and decided to write papers again this year. The theme was Triumph and Tragedy. Jacob wrote about the Sega Genesis game system and Olivia wrote about prohibition. Jacob is still praying about where God would have him go to school next year. He has it narrowed down to two choices now.

Olivia is playing in a winter volleyball league again this year. She practices on Saturday evenings and has tournaments every few weeks on Saturdays. She's also still doing youth choir on Sunday evenings and mock trial on Wednesdays. She likes keeping busy, but enjoys a day of rest now and then as well.
