Each week we ask the campers to tell their favorite thing about camp. Their answers always vary from the songs to the stories to the afternoon fun times. To an observer, it is easy to see which part of the day they get most excited about, and that is the moment of the day when the missionary offering total is announced. All week long, the kids bring their pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters, and crumpled bills to put in the offering bucket. At the end of missionary time each day, we give them an update on how much they brought. On Friday, when the final offering is announced, the kids cheer more loudly than any other moment of the entire week.

So far this summer, the offerings have totaled more than $6000. This is such a blessing to our visiting missionaries as they use that money to finance their ministries all over the world. We're so thankful for the opportunity the kids have each week to hear from missionaries and give to their ministries.

Christian Youth in Action®

Our summer missionaries are all keeping a full schedule as they travel each week throughout our counties to teach 5-Day Clubs, camps, and Vacation Bible Schools. God is working in their lives and using them to reach boys and girls. This summer has been a flexibility test for them as things have often had to be done or changed at the last minute, and they've all done well at adapting as needed. We are grateful for their servants' hearts and their willingness to go where needed.

You're not missing a page. This month's edition is only one page long. Next month, we'll be back to our regular newsletter.
