

GOOD NEWS

CORA AND SETH

Cora and Seth's school closed down two weeks before schools closed for us. They still reported to school each day, and did their best communicating with student using online methods. Everyone returned to school on March 16, but with things changing so quickly, they are not sure what will happen next. They are safe and healthy. It has been a growing experience for them as teachers.

CALEB

Caleb had Spring Break in early March. He was able to help in the CEF office, work on the camp property, and volunteer in some clubs. He also got to preach his first sermon at a men's prayer breakfast. Just as he was to go back, his break was extended for two more weeks, so he'll be doing work online for a few weeks at least.

JACOB

Jacob competed with a team from his school (Liberty University) in a robotics competition. He wrote some of the coding that made the robot work. It was a new experience for him and he really enjoyed it. He is home for break for one week, but we'll see if that changes as most colleges are extending break and going online. He brought his books home just in case.

OLIVIA

Olivia is in the final quarter of her senior year. She will also have two weeks off and will spend a week of that doing school online. She will take her senior trip to San Antonio later this month - as long as travel is allowed. If not, they will find a more local place to go. It looks like her graduation date will be unaffected.

TRUSTING

Earlier this month, we were expressing our thankfulness that clubs had been able to meet without interruptions due to very few snow days this year. We never could have guessed that schools would close for two weeks.

We're still thankful for limited snow days so most clubs were able to meet for nearly 20 weeks before the unplanned break. We're praying clubs can resume soon, but have decided to use these two weeks to get a head start on camp preparations. There is a lot that can be done during this time.

Two groups of students will be coming in a few weeks to help with projects both inside and outside. They do this as a community service day for their school and it is such a blessing to us to have so much help. They accomplish a lot in one day.
