

Good News

New Season

This summer was such a blessing for our family. Since 5-Day Clubs® didn't take place, Jacob and Olivia joined Caleb, Dan, and Michelle working at camp each week. They filled in wherever they were needed, and we were really happy to work together as a family all summer. Caleb did a great job once again leading chapel twice a day all summer long.

As the new season of the year begins, we usually start a new season of ministry as well. This year, that will be very different as we will not have our school clubs. The switch between ministry seasons usually happens so quickly that we don't have time for much else. This year, with the less busy Fall months, Dan and Michelle have decided to take a little time off to rest and regroup. We hope to travel a bit to some of our favorite places. It will also give us time to think and pray about ministry and what comes next for us and for CEF. We hope to leave just after the directors refresher which will be Sept 8-10. Pray for us that we will have some rest and relaxation, and that we will also have time to discern what God has next for our ministry.

Cora and Seth

School started on August 3 at Global English School this year. Cora is teaching 2nd grade and Seth is teaching high school math. A lot of things are different, but the school found ways to work everything out and have in person classes each day. They are thankful for that.

Caleb

Caleb is home this semester finishing his last three classes online. He is taking three electives - two English as a Second Language classes and one Pastoral class. It's really nice to have him home. He helps out around the house and property in so many ways. He is still looking for a part time job in the area.

Jacob

Jacob made the difficult decision to stay home this semester. He is still with Liberty University, but has transferred to their online school. It is truly the best decision for now, and it was an easy transition. He is still majoring in computer science and taking all the same classes.

Olivia

Olivia arrived at LeTourneau University on August 11. She moved into the honors dorm and has made it though orientation and the first week of classes. She really is enjoying it so far. She has found some good friends. Pray that she finds a church nearby that she can attend as she visits different ones.