Good News Camp is Here!

We are thrilled to be able to say that camp has arrived. This is our family's 15th summer of Good News Camp, and we just couldn't imagine a summer without it. Four of us will be working at camp this summer in various roles. We're excited about the opportunity to have camp at full capacity. We've had many work days, many volunteers, many donations, and much prayer to prepare for a full summer of ministry.

We are so thankful for the many teachers, junior counselors, helpers, nurses, and bus drivers who have volunteered for the summer. We have six brand new teachers coming to camp this year so far. We love introducing them to camp. They usually enjoy it just as much as the children. We also have a record number of children coming to camp for the first time this year. We attribute that to the postcard mailing we did earlier this year as well as our online registration. We're excited to share the gospel with these first-timers.

We also have a great team of junior staff who have committed to come at least four weeks this summer to serve in leadership positions. They will help in many ways by being available to fill multiple roles as needed each week. Their willingness and flexibility are such a blessing.

Cora and Seth

Cora and Seth finished their school year online, but cannot come home for the summer due to COVID regulations. They decided to start a blog in their spare time to share what they have learned with others in the field of teaching. It's called "Mind the Gap."

Caleb

Caleb will lead chapel at camp again this summer. He recently started working as an editor for Liberty University students who are pursuing doctoral degrees. He has gotten quite good at editing and is getting a lot of requests.

Jacob

Jacob will mostly be working at camp this summer, but will also have the opportunity to teach a few Vacation Bible Schools at local churches. Part of his role this summer will be training younger teachers how to share the gospel and teach a Bible lesson.

Olivia

Olivia was only home for a few days in May before leaving for her internship. She managed to find the time to practice and take her school bus driver's test, so she is now a licensed school bus driver. Her internship in Florida is going well. She's really enjoying it, and she's learning a lot.

PRAYER

Prayer Requests:

- ✓ Pray for Cora and Seth as they have a long summer to fill. Pray they will stay encouraged.
- ✓ Pray for Olivia as she continues to work in her internship. It is stretching her in many ways.
- ✓ Pray for the rest of us at camp to have strength, good health, and the stamina needed to do eight straight weeks of camp.
